FROM:

Robert W. Gambino

SUBJECT:

Briefing on Technical Security Threats [REDACTED]

25X1

1. At the Security Committee conference held at the [REDACTED] you raised the issue of whether technical security threats were being given the degree of attention they merited. Committee members in attendance agreed that proper assessment of this matter was dependent on adequate understanding of the nature and origin of the threat. The consensus was that a qualified NSA representative should be asked to brief Committee Principals and selected staff members accordingly. (C)

2. It would be appreciated if you arrange for such a briefing, and for any special security access approvals which might be needed by the recipients. While I suggest that the briefing be presented in the near future, I leave the date open so as to permit maximum flexibility for NSA personnel involved. (C)
